Penile Extenders - the Ultimate Review

Many makes of penis extenders (also called penis stretchers) are available on the market today. Aiming to pick the suitable one to buy can be a challenge, as a number of them look very similar to one another. In this article, I will give my review on the few penis extenders I have bought and used, compare them against one another in terms of value and quality, and rank them accordingly. After finishing this article, you should be in a well-informed position and ready to make a buying decision.

Ranked 5th: Vimax Extender

The major reason why I do not like this extender is because it feels uncomfortable to wear for longer than a few minutes. The vimax extender pulls on the penis by using a silicone noose that hugs the penis just beneath the penis glans. The silicone noose squeezes the penis to restrict circulation and causes a considerable amount of discomfort when worn for long periods of time.

The sales price for the vimax is not cheap either. As I will mention later, the Jes extender has a similar design as the Vimax extender, but can be bought at a lower price.

Due to the above reasons, I will not recommend the Vimax to you.

Ranked 4th: Jes Extender

The Jes extender is available in four different versions: Budget, Original, Silver, and Gold. From Budget to Gold, each package comprising of increasingly more bonuses, longer warranty periods, but a higher price tag.

Same as the Vimax, the Jes extender is made from the silicone noose design that squeezes the penis. However, the Budget version is one of the lowest priced penis extenders offered on the market today, and if you're on a small budget the Budget package of the Vimax may be ideal for you.

For a higher level of comfort, you may want to consider the Silver or Gold versions of the Jes extender, because both packages come with a comfort strap to lessen the discomfort when wearing the extender. I have to inform you though, that even with the comfort strap, the Jes is still than the other penis extenders I'll be covering in a minute.

Another factor you'll need to find out about before buying a penis extender is its company's refund policy. The Jes extender website's refund policy says that you may to ask for a refund only if you have never worn it. This does not make much sense, and definitely does not provide much of confidence to the consumer.

Due to these reasons, I highly suggest that you consider one of the other penis extenders we'll be looking at in the sections below.

Ranked 3rd: FastSize Extender

I enjoy my Fastsize penis extender due to the fact that it's relatively comfortable to wear. Once, Fastsize had the same silicone noose design as the Vimax and Jes devices. However, after monitoring comments from customers, the company modify the design of the Fastsize device to add what they call "duro bands" to increase comfort and to also reduce a slippage problem that was also mentioned by customers. Existing customers has only to get the duro bands for a few bucks and apply them to their extender to make it that much more comfortable.

Fastsize's company is able to continuous upgrade their extender because they provided a users forum for customers to talk about their product. This type of customer support is unrivaled by any other penis extender seller I am aware of.

In fact, the Fastsize team is so confident about their extender, that they offer a full money back guarantee if you do not experience any improvement in the size of your penis after half a year of usage. Simply send in records of regular measurements as proof to receive the refund.

Moreover, you have the option of receiving FastSize for free. To do this, simply send in before and after photos of your penis, to have your money refunded to you (the extender will be yours to keep). Another way to get the Fastsize extender free-of-charge is to participate in their forum. You can trade in the forum points you accumulate to get a free extender.

Due to the above reasons, I would like to recommend the FastSize penis extender to anyone that is planning to get seriously into penis enlargement.

Ranked 2nd: SizeGenetics Extender

Just like for the Fastsize extender, the SizeGenetics extender can be gotten free-of-charge if you provide before and after photographs of your penis. SizeGenetics also has a full money back guarantee in the unlikely event that you fail to experience positive results after half a year of extender use.

Why do I rank SizeGenetics higher than the Fastsize extender? Mostly for the following 2 reasons.

One reason is that I personally feel that SizeGenetics is more comfortable than FastSize. The SizeGenetics extender is equipped with a padded rubber comfort strap, which makes it quite comfortable to wear.

Another reason why I rank the SizeGenetics extender above Fastsize, is that SizeGenetics is packaged with many bonuses such as a DVD on penis enlargement exercises and a DVD on sex techniques. These useful bonuses gives the SizeGenetics package the second-best value out of the five extenders I have.

Ranked 1st: X4 Labs Extender

Of all the penis extenders I've utilized, the X4 Labs extender is without doubt by far the most comfortable to put on. This extender comes with a layer of memory foam that wraps around your penis, and a comfort strap that then secures it on the extender. Since it was so comfy, I was able to keep it on it for extended periods of time without feeling the need to take it off. Due to the fact that longer periods of use translate into faster gains in penis length, comfort should be the most important consideration when you're deciding on a penis extender.

Surprisingly, of all the penis extenders I purchased, the X4 Labs extender cost the least. Just goes to show that higher quality doesn't necessarily come with a high selling price. The X4 extender comes in a number of different editions. I wouldn't recommend the Starter Edition unless you're only preparing to achieve up to 7" flaccid length. The Deluxe Edition will allow you to gain beyond 7" flaccid and is the one I purchased. Also feel free to check out the other editions available.

In summary, the X4 Labs extender was able to give me the most gains within the shortest period of time at essentially the most comfort for the least amount of dollars. I'm confident it will do the same for you as well.

Comparison and Recommendations

If you are planning to wear an extender for prolonged periods of time (e.g. for hours with occasional breaks), and comfort is your number one concern, then I recommend the X4 Labs extender. The X4 Labs extender also has the very best value considering its low cost.

If you are on a quite limited budget and cash is your top concern, I would advise the "budget" version of the Jes extender.

If you want unbeatable after sales help, consider the FastSize extender.

Taking everything into consideration, I highly advise the X4 Labs extender for its comfort level, the fast gains you are able to potentially get by using it, and its low price tag compared to similar items available on the market.
